If these changes take place and I'm sure they will, it would be worth considering the actual boundaries, at present we have houses in one street in three actual wards which is farcical. Over the years Tipton, as with many other small towns have seen their close-knit communities and our townships ruined, first we had the Borough boundary changes in 1966, then again in 1974 and then the parliamentary constituencies this year. I have been involved with our local communities for 65 years, through Church, Rotary Club, Civic Society, Community Association and an 130 + over 50's Club. I have seen so many changes in and to our communities, we now have more apathy towards local government than we had years ago and sometimes understandable. Community facilities have also diminished. We still need three wards in Tipton and the boundaries obviously need to be sensible, we don't want the same streets detached into two or three wards. We don't need three councillors per ward, two would suffice. These are my views and are also shared by members of my over 50's club. Lets hope that whatever happens we can see a return to the good old community spirit.
