We discussed this matter at our parish council meeting in December and voted on the following proposal:-

"Huish Champflower must continue to be in an electoral division with other Exmoor parishes, as it is critical for us to continue to be part of this strong community of shared characteristics and interests.",

All the parish councillors at the meeting plus one vote in absentia voted in favour of this proposal.

A number of residents from the parish were also in attendance and shared this view. The concern is that the parish needs to be aligned with similar parishes, any amalgamation with neighbouring urban areas would mean losing our voice as the greater populations and issues in those areas would be very different from the concerns of our rural parish.
