The villages to the south of the A1 and former A1 (local access rd) Namely Theakston, Exelby Burniston and Carthorpe look to Bedale for services having little to do the rest of Swale division. Applying the same rationale to these villages as was to Bedale Aiskew would seem to be justified as RAF Leeming is very clearly a self contained unit . Furthermore the a claim made for the introduction of a Unitary Authority was that it would increase local accountability, the current councillor lives in Well and attends as many parish council meetings as possible. Removing this would mean that accountability will be even more diluted than it already has been by to introduction of a Unitary Authority that is more focused on the larger centres of population rather than the trials and tribulations of small communities.
