Currently Sowerby, Sessay and Topcliffe fall under the same councillor. They are very different places with very different needs. With both Sessay and Topcliffe being more rural, and Sowerby niw lossing some its ruralness and becoming much more integrated into Thirsk town. The gateway development doubling the population of Sowerby brings a fresh set of challenges. Adjusting boundaries to allow councillors who can focus more on the town issues and one who can specialise in the rural needs may be of great benefit to the local area.
