Related subject: Bartonhill

Culturally, Bartonhill has always felt distinct from Lawrence Hill and St Philips and has its own shops, youth clubs etc

Part of this is because it has always been mostly a place where you only really go if you live there or visiting someone rather to get to somewhere else.

The Lawrence Hill ward is the largest by population apart from the wards that have 3 councillors while at the same time having a high amount of economic deprivation. I think that it would make sense to split up the ward or as a plan b make it a 3 councillor ward
