The boundaries for Southville should remain the same there is a fantastic community experience here along with shared values and interests. We are already being subject to the artificial division of low traffic neighbour hoods which are impacting on this harmonious area. No more changes are required or wanted. To once again use an arbitrator factor numbers which will continue to change is ridiculous. Are you going to divide areas on numbers and not areas how are appropriate resources to be allocated. Need should be the main and primary driver. You are not going to get numbers right and current housing policies are impacting numerous wise on areas such as Southville where many more people are projected to live. Influx of new comers are difficult to assimilate with out piling change on top. You don't know what there needs are yet and they will be different. This is potentially fragmenting for communities with out. Without a plan how can we comment.! The existing boundaries work north stree cornation road etc leave them alone.
